Who has this patient made contact with?

The County Department of Public Health is working to identify all patient's contacts to monitor them for signs and symptoms of the illness and to take measures to prevent transmission. As should always be the case, people experiencing symptoms of contagious illness should seek medical guidance, not attend work or school, and avoid unnecessary contact with other people.

What is the most recent response from the County to address COVID-19?

In an effort to protect the public from further spread of the virus that causes COVID-19, the County's Acting Health Officer ordered the cancellation of private and public gatherings of any number of people within the county through at least April 6. The County continues to work closely with local, state and federal partners to respond to reports of COVID-19.

Are public attractions and public offices closing?

The following County attractions are closed to the public until at least April 3:

I heard that Public Health/County is gearing up to provide mobile testing.

County Public Health is working hard to establish mobile testing, but there are no dates or locations yet. That information will be widely publicized as soon as it's available. In the meantime, call your healthcare provider for information about testing. Your doctor will determine if you have signs and symptoms of COVID-19 and whether you should be tested.

Why isn’t the county doing anything? Why aren’t you doing anything?

As local government, San Bernardino County is currently following the state orders to slow the spread of COVID-19. We continue to work with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) to ensure we receive the most current guidances. The health risk from COVID-19 to the general public in San Bernardino County remains low at this time. All San Bernardino County residents and visitors are strongly encouraged to continue to practice good public health hygiene and follow guidance from CDC, CDPH and DPH to protect themselves from possibly spreading any illness.

GENERAL COVID-19 INFORMATION – SYMPTOMS, PREVENTION, RISK

I think I might have COVID-19. What should I do?
If you are experiencing symptoms of COVID-19, and may have had contact with a person with COVID-19 or recently traveled to countries with apparent community spread, call your healthcare provider first before seeking medical care so that appropriate precautions can be taken.

What are COVID-19 symptoms? When do symptoms occur?

Current symptoms reported for patients with COVID-19 have included:

- Mild to severe respiratory illness with fever
- Cough
- Difficulty breathing or shortness of breath.

If you are having difficulty breathing or keeping fluids down, go to an emergency room or call 9-1-1 right away.

Symptoms may appear within 2 to 14 days after exposure.

Who should I call if I or someone I know are experiencing any symptoms or have questions?

If you are experiencing symptoms of COVID-19, and may have had contact with a person with COVID-19 or recently traveled to countries with apparent community spread, call your healthcare provider first before seeking medical care so that appropriate precautions can be taken. Most people will get better with rest so there is usually no need to see a doctor if you have mild symptoms.

Stay home if you feel sick, even if your symptoms are mild. It's better for you and it keeps others from getting sick, too. Do not go to work, school, or public areas, and do not use public transportation.

Can someone who has COVID-19 spread the illness to others?

The virus that causes COVID-19 is spreading from person-to-person. Someone who is actively sick with COVID-19 can spread the illness to others. That is why the CDC recommends that these patients be isolated either in the hospital or at home (depending on how sick they are) until they are better and no longer pose a risk of infecting others.

Current CDC guidance states the release of someone from isolation is made on a case by case basis and includes meeting all of the following requirements:

- The patient is free from fever without the use of fever-reducing medications.
- The patient is no longer showing symptoms, including cough.
- The patient has tested negative on at least two consecutive respiratory specimens collected at least 24 hours apart.

Someone who has been released from isolation is not considered to pose a risk of infection to others.

How do I know if I am at risk of getting COVID-19?

The risk of contracting COVID-19 in San Bernardino County is currently low, but it is important to keep a close eye on the situation and preparedness efforts in your local area. However, travelers returning from affected international locations where community spread is occurring are at an elevated risk.

Who is at higher risk/considered a vulnerable population for serious illness from COVID-19?
Early information out of China, where COVID-19 first started, shows that some people are at higher risk of getting very sick from this illness. This includes:

- Older adults
- Individuals with compromised immune systems
- Individuals who have serious chronic medical conditions like:
  - Heart disease
  - Diabetes
  - Lung disease

If you are at higher risk for serious illness from COVID-19 because of your age or health condition, it is important for you to take actions to reduce your risk of getting sick with the disease.

What can I do to protect myself and prevent the spread of the disease?

Wash your hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, especially after going to the bathroom, before eating, and after touching your nose, coughing or sneezing. If you have no soap or water, use a hand disinfectant containing at least 60% alcohol.

- Keep a minimum distance of 6 feet between you and anyone who is coughing or sneezing.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.
- You and the people around you must ensure that you maintain good hygiene by covering your mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing. The tissue should be discarded immediately.

On March 17, the County Acting Health Officer ordered the cancellation of all gatherings. The order does not apply to activities “essential to the functioning of our state” including work, public transportation, airport travel, grocery stores, charitable food distribution, certified farmers’ markets, and shopping at stores or malls. The order also does not apply to congregate living situations, including dormitories and homeless encampments. All San Bernardino County public schools have voluntarily closed as part of the effort to stop the spread of the virus, according to the County Superintendent of Schools. If you are sick, please stay home, do not go to work, school, or large public areas.

Is it OK for me to go out in public?

The County’s Acting Health Officer today ordered the cancellation of gatherings of any number of people within the county through at least April 6.

The order does not apply to activities “essential to the functioning of our state” including work, public transportation, airport travel, grocery stores, charitable food distribution, certified farmers’ markets, and shopping at stores or malls. The order also does not apply to congregate living situations, including dormitories and homeless encampments. All San Bernardino County public schools have voluntarily closed as part of the effort to stop the spread of the virus, according to the County Superintendent of Schools.

It is important to remember that social distancing is very important at this time. If you MUST go out in public, try to maintain at least 6 feet distance from people, and wash your hands frequently. If you are feeling ill, please stay home, do not go to work, school, or the general public.

What is San Bernardino County Public Health recommending I do right now?
The County’s Public Health Department has issued the following guidance during this time of increased spread:

- Avoid non-essential travel and gatherings, regardless of the number of people.
- A Health Officer Order was placed to cancel all public and private gatherings. If you are mildly sick with a fever, stay home and call your doctor if you are concerned and/or your symptoms worsen. Individuals who are elderly, have underlying health conditions or pregnant should consider contacting their providers earlier when they are sick.
- Exclude employees and visitors with any fever and/or respiratory infection symptoms and visitors with recent travel to any country or region with significant community transmission (including communities in the US) from all schools, businesses, and gatherings of any size. See the CDC’s Travel webpage.
- Follow all social distancing recommendations.

How come [EVENT] isn’t cancelled yet?

Each event organizer is responsible for announcing the cancellation or postponement of their event. Please check back with the event organizer for updates.

Are schools going to be closed down?

The Health Officer Order does not apply to regular school classes. However, most, if not all, San Bernardino County public schools have voluntarily closed as part of the effort to stop the spread of the virus, according to the County Superintendent of Schools. Please visit the San Bernardino Superintendent of School’s website to see all school closures: www.sbcss.k12.ca.us (click on the SBCSS COVID-19 Information button on the homepage, then click the first link at the top) (School Districts Across San Bernardino County Closing Due to COVID-19 UPDATED - 3/16/20)

Are churches / faith-based gatherings included in this guidance?

Yes, it has been determined that churches and faith-based organizations should follow this guidance. There are options for staggered services, video conferencing, or even employing strategies around social distancing for the smaller churches/organizations.

Are funerals part of this guidance?

Church services for a funeral should follow the guidance. However, burials are considered an essential function. Please keep burial attendance to a minimum and practice social distancing and please wash your hands with soap and water.

Are child/day cares part of this?

Child/day cares may remain open as long as there is a stable/consistent number of 10 children (no new children coming in and out). Please practice social distancing, wash hands with soap and water frequently, and disinfect frequently touched surfaces. Parents/guardians may continue to send children to day cares if parents are working essential functions. If parents/guardians are working from home, it is best to keep the children at home.

TESTING

Is DPH currently testing for COVID-19?

Yes, DPH Laboratory is currently conducting testing. DPH Laboratory is following the same testing guidance as the California Department of Public Health. WORRIED WELL

Even if you are young, or otherwise healthy, you are at risk and your activities can increase the risk for others. It is critical that you do your part to stop the spread of the coronavirus:

- Work or engage in schooling from home whenever possible.
- If you work in a critical infrastructure industry, as defined by the Department of Homeland Security, such as healthcare services and pharmaceutical and food supply, you have a special responsibility to maintain your normal work schedule. You and your employers should follow CDC guidance to protect your health at work. If you have questions about your work schedule, please contact your employer.
- Avoid eating or drinking in bars, restaurants, and food courts – use drive-thru, pickup, or delivery options.
- Avoid discretionary travel, shopping trips, and social visits. If you do not need to visit public areas, please stay home.
- Do not visit nursing homes or retirement or long-term care facilities unless to provide critical assistance.
- Practice good hygiene:
  - Wash your hands, especially after touching any frequently used item or surface.
  - Avoid touching your face.
  - Sneeze or cough into a tissue and throw the tissue away, or the inside of your elbow. Disinfect frequently used items and surfaces as much as possible.
